Introduction

HISTORY OF THE ECONOMIC CENSUS

Economic censuses of manufactures, retail and wholesale trades, and some service industries have been conducted in Guam at 5-year intervals since 1958. A census of construction industries has been conducted since 1972. Congress has authorized the Bureau of the Census to take the economic census every 5 years, covering years ending in 2 and 7.

USES OF THE CENSUS

The economic census provides essential information for government, business, industry, and the general public and is the primary source of facts about the structure and function of the economy. The census furnishes an important part of the framework for such composite measures as the net income and local gross product. In forecasting and planning, censuses are especially useful in analyzing the gross product in terms of the transactions that determine its size and composition. The economic census also provides weights and a benchmark for indices of industrial production, productivity, and price, all of which are essential for understanding current economic developments.

Local governments use census data to assess business activities within their jurisdictions. The private sector uses the data to forecast general economic conditions; analyze sales performance; lay out sales territories; allocate funds for advertising; decide on locations for new plants, warehouses, or stores; and measure potential markets in terms of size, geographic areas, and kinds of business.

Following every census, businesses and other users purchase reports. Likewise, census facts are widely disseminated by trade associations, business journals, and newspapers. Volumes containing census statistics are available in most major public and college libraries. Census reports are available for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, DC 20402. All 1992 data are available in electronic form from the Data User Services Division, Customer Services, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233-8300. The State data centers also are suppliers of economic census statistics.

AUTHORITY

The 1992 Economic Census is authorized by an act of the U.S. Congress, Title 13, U.S. Code, sections 131, 191, and 224. The census of 1992 covered manufacturing, construction industries, wholesale trade, retail trade, and some service industries. The next economic census is scheduled to be taken in 1998 covering the year 1997.

CENSUS DISCLOSURE RULES

In accordance with Federal law governing census reports, no data are published that would disclose the operations of an individual establishment or business. However, the number of establishments in a kind-of-business classification is not considered a disclosure, so this information may be released even though other information is withheld.

COMPARABILITY OF DATA

The 1987 and 1992 Economic Census data were collected under similar conditions and procedures, except for the following:

Enumeration. In 1987 personal interviews were conducted to obtain data for all establishments. For 1992, a combination of mail and personal interviews were used for data collection. All known establishments with employees were mailed questionnaires to be completed and returned to the Bureau of the Census. Field interviewers canvassed enumeration districts collecting data for establishments which did not respond by mail or were not on the mailing list.

KINDS OF BUSINESS AND AREAS COVERED

The 1992 Economic Census covers all establishments described in the following kind-of-business (KB) groups defined in the 1987 Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) Manual.<sup>1</sup>

KB groups	SIC codes
Construction	15 through 17, and 6552
Manufacturing	20 through 39
Wholesale Trade	50 and 51
Retail Trade	52 through 59
Services	472; 70 through 79, except 702 and 704; and 8072, 8111, 84, 871, 8731, 8732, 8734, and 874.

This report presents data for Guam as a whole and for its election districts.

ESTABLISHMENT BASIS OF REPORTING

The economic census is conducted on an establishment basis. A company operating establishments at more than one location is required to submit a report for each location. Companies engaged in distinctly different lines of activity at one location are required to submit separate reports if records permit such a separation and if the activities are substantial in size. Each census report form was tabulated according to the physical location at which the activity was conducted.

Leased departments, which are separately owned businesses operated as departments or concessions of a retail business under another ownership, such as a separately owned shoe department in a department store, were listed as separate establishments from the main business.

REPORT FORM

One report form was used to enumerate all in-scope economic activity. By law, response to the census is mandatory. A facsimile of the report form is presented in appendix B.

ENUMERATION AND DATA PROCESSING

Report forms were mailed to all firms subject to payment of Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA) taxes (i.e., employers of one person or more) and classified as being within the scope of the census. The report forms and instructions for completing them were mailed from the Census Bureau's Data Preparation Division in Jeffersonville, IN. Additionally, enumerators canvassed the entire area and obtained reports on all known businesses existing in 1992 for which a report form had not been returned. Appendix A gives a more detailed explanation of census coverage and methodology.

The individual report forms underwent extensive review and computer processing. All report forms were geographically coded, data-keyed, and edited. The editing process identified records with significant problems and referred them to an analyst for resolution. Data corrections were made interactively and reedited, until all problems were resolved.

The data were then tabulated by SIC, subjected to further data analysis, and the resulting corrections applied to individual computer records. Corrected tabulations were then produced for the final published reports.

RELIABILITY OF DATA

All data compiled in this report originated from a complete enumeration and, therefore, are not subject to sampling variability. However, the data are subject to nonsampling errors. Nonsampling errors can be attributed to many sources: inability to identify all cases in the actual universe; inability or unwillingness on the part of respondents to provide correct information; definition and classification difficulties; response errors and bias; errors in collection or processing; misinterpretation of questions; and other errors of recording, keying, and estimation for missing or misreported data.

VI INTRODUCTION

The accuracy of these tabulated data is influenced by the joint effects of the various nonsampling errors. Explicit measures of the effects of these nonsampling errors are not available. However, it is believed that most of the important operational and response errors were detected and corrected through systematic clerical edits, automated data edits, and an analyst review.

For total nonresponse cases (report forms not returned), the establishments' administrative records information was used in conjunction with industry averages to estimate the basic data. For item nonresponse, missing items were estimated based on response to other items and/ or administrative records and in direct relationship to sales or receipts. It is assumed that characteristics of establishments not responding to a particular inquiry are the same as establishments with equal sales or receipts in the same category (e.g., publication table line) that did respond to the inquiry.

If estimation of the data on the basis of total sales or receipts was not appropriate, another basic data item was used. In a few tables, data are available only from establishments that completed the appropriate inquiries on the report form. Any biases introduced by the estimation and correction procedures are believed to be small.

SPECIAL TABULATIONS

Special tabulations of data collected in the 1992 Economic Census may be obtained in electronic and in tabular form. The data will be in summary form and subject to the same rules prohibiting disclosure of confidential information (including name, address, kind-of-business, or other data for individual business establishments or companies) as are the regular publications.

Special tabulations are prepared on a cost-reimbursable basis. A request for a cost estimate, as well as exact specifications on the type and format of the data to be provided, should be directed to the Chief, Agriculture and Financial Statistics Division, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233.

DOLLAR VALUE

All dollar figures are expressed in current dollars for the year specified. Therefore, when making comparisons to prior years, users should take into consideration the inflation that has occurred.

General Explanation

CENSUS COVERAGE AND METHODOLOGY

Structure and method of enumeration. The 1992 Economic Census of Guam was conducted using a combination of mail and personal enumeration. The coverage and method of obtaining census information follow:

1. Mail census. A census report form was mailed to all employer firms (employers of one person or more) classified as being within the scope of the census. One single report form was used to collect data by mail. Firms were instructed to return the completed report form by mail.
2. Personal enumeration. Personal interviews were conducted to obtain data from establishments not known to the Census Bureau at the time of the mailout and establishments which did not return a report form.

The Government of Guam collected the data under the provisions in title 13 of the United States Code, section 191(b). A staff member of the Guam Department of Commerce supervised the field enumeration. The project leader and the enumerators were trained in Tamuning by staff from the Bureau of the Census.

The island was divided into 19 enumeration districts (ED's), one or more of which were assigned to an enumerator. The enumerator was provided with a map of the assigned ED, a list of establishments for which a report form had been received, a record book, and a supply of forms. The enumerator was instructed to systematically canvass the entire ED and enter in the record book the name of each establishment. Establishments within the scope of the census for which a form had not been received were enumerated using report form OA-9863. Upon completing work in an ED, the enumerator turned over the record book, report forms, and related materials to the supervisor. Quality checks were performed during enumeration to ensure that the area had been completely canvassed and all necessary reports were obtained.

The census covered individual construction, manufacturing, wholesale, retail, and some service establishments. Construction, manufacturing, and wholesale establishments with no paid employees for the entire year of 1992 are excluded from this publication. Peddlers and other itinerant vendors without established places of business were not canvassed, since they are out of the scope of the census.

Each establishment was assigned a kind-of-business code from the 1987 Standard Industrial Classification Manual<sup>1</sup> (SIC) based on the respondent's answers to the questions on main business or the primary activity of the establishment based on sources of sales or receipts.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS

Sales and receipts. Sales and receipts include merchandise sold (excluding excise taxes), value of products shipped, receipts from repairs and other services to customers, and delivery and carrying charges, whether or not payment was received in 1992. Sales are net after deductions for refunds and allowances for merchandise returned by customers. Sales and receipts also include income from business activity classified in a major category different from the one assigned to the establishment; e.g., wholesalers may have receipts from sales at retail, and, similarly, retailers may have receipts from sales at wholesale. Receipts exclude amounts other than those received from customers, such as income from investments and rental of real estate.

Figures may contain duplication since products of some industries are used as materials for others and work (and receipts) of one firm may be subcontracted to other firms and included in the other firm's receipts.

Firms. A firm is a business organization or entity consisting of one or more domestic establishments (locations) under common ownership or control. All establishments of subsidiary firms are included as part of the owning or controlling firm. For the economic censuses, the terms "firm" and "company" are synonymous.

Annual payroll. Payroll includes all forms of compensation, such as salaries, wages, commissions, bonuses, vacation allowances, sick-leave pay, and the value of payments-in-kind (e.g., free meals and lodging) paid during the year to all employees. It also includes tips and gratuities received by employees from patrons and reported to employers. For corporations, it includes amounts paid to officers and executives; for unincorporated businesses, it does not include profit or other compensation to proprietors and partners. Payroll is reported before deductions for social security, income tax, insurance, union dues, etc.

First quarter payroll. This item consists of payroll, as defined above, paid to persons employed at any time during the quarter January to March 1992.

Paid employees for the pay period including March 12. Paid employees, including salaried officers and executives of corporations, are those full- and part-time employees who were on the payroll during the pay period including March 12, 1992. Included are employees on paid sick leave, paid holidays, and paid vacations. Proprietors and partners of unincorporated businesses are not included.

Proprietors and partners, working. Proprietors and partners are owners or partners of unincorporated businesses who worked 15 hours or more during the week which included March 12, 1992.

Unpaid family workers. This item includes all unpaid family members who worked 15 hours or more during the week which included March 12, 1992.

Legal form of organization. The legal form of organization for firms was based on the response to the organizational status questions on the census report forms.

KIND-OF-BUSINESS CLASSIFICATIONS

Establishments covered in the 1992 census were assigned a kind-of-business classification in accordance with the provisions of the 1987 SIC Manual. However, the limited number of establishments in most classifications at the detail level would necessitate extensive suppression of data to avoid disclosing figures for individual business organizations. Therefore, the data in this report are usually shown for SIC major groups or other SIC combinations.

Following are selected kind-of-business descriptions.

Construction (SIC Division C, Major Groups 15, 16, 17, and 6552)

This division includes establishments primarily engaged in construction. The term "construction" includes new work, additions, alterations, and repairs. There are three broad types of construction activity:

1. Building construction by general contractors and operative builders (Major Group 15). This major group includes general contractors and operative builders primarily engaged in the construction of residential, farm, industrial, commercial, or other buildings. General building contractors who combine a special trade with the contracting are included in this major group.

2. Heavy construction other than building construction by contractors (Major Group 16). This major group includes general contractors primarily engaged in heavy construction other than building, such as highways and streets, bridges, sewers, railroads, irrigation projects, flood control projects and marine construction, and special trade contractors primarily engaged in activities of a type that are clearly specialized to such heavy construction and are not normally performed on buildings or building-related projects. Specialized activities that are covered here include grading for highways and airport runways; guardrail construction; installation of highway signs; trenching; underwater rock removal; and asphalt and concrete construction of roads, highways, streets, and public sidewalks.

3. Construction by special trade contractors (Major Group 17). This major group includes special trade contractors who undertake activities of a type that are specialized either to building construction, including work on mobile homes, or to both building and non-building projects. These activities include painting (including bridge painting and traffic lane painting), electrical work (including work on bridges, power lines, and power plants), carpentry work, plumbing, heating, air-conditioning, roofing, and sheet metal work. Special trade contractors may work on subcontract from the general contractor, performing only part of the work covered by the general contract, or they may work directly for the owner. Special trade contractors for the most part perform their work at the site of construction, although they also may have shops where they perform work incidental to the job site.

Land subdividers and developers, except cemeteries (SIC 6552). Establishments primarily engaged in subdividing real property into lots, except cemetery lots, and in developing it for resale on their own account. Establishments primarily engaged in developing lots for others are classified in industry 1794.

Importers selling merchandise at wholesale and exporters also are included in wholesale trade.

Nondurable Goods (SIC Major Group 51)

This major group includes establishments primarily engaged in the wholesale distribution of nondurable goods.

Retail Trade (SIC Division G, Major Group 52 through 59)

This division includes establishments engaged in selling merchandise for personal or household consumption and in rendering services incidental to the sale of the goods. Exceptions are necessitated by trade practices. For example, lumber yards and paint, glass, and wallpaper stores are included in retail trade if they sell to the general public, even if a higher proportion of their sales is made to contractors. Establishments engaged in selling products to the general public from displayed merchandise, such as typewriters, stationery, or gasoline, are classified in retail trade even though such products may not be used for personal or household consumption. However, establishments that sell exclusively to business establishments, institutional and industrial users, or contractors are classified in wholesale trade.

Other important characteristics of retail trade establishments are that they are usually fixed places of business; are engaged in activities to attract the general public to buy; buy or receive as well as sell merchandise; they may process their products, although processing is incidental or subordinate to selling; and are considered as retail in the trade. Not all of these characteristics need to be present and some are modified by trade practices.

In general, retail establishments were classified according to the principal lines of commodities sold (groceries, hardware, etc.) or the usual trade designation (drug store, cigar store, etc.).

Kind-of-business classifications are not interchangeable with commodity classifications; most businesses sell several kinds of commodities. The kind-of-business code generally reflects either the individual commodity or the commodity group which is the primary source of the establishment's receipts, or some mixture of commodities which characterizes the establishment's business. Thus, the classification of establishments by kind of business generally does not make it possible to determine either the number of establishments handling a particular commodity or the sales of that commodity. For example, the food stores classification excludes stores selling food if the sale of food is not the primary source of receipts; moreover, even though stores are classified as food stores some of their receipts may be derived from the sale of nonfood products.

Building Materials, Hardware, Garden Supply, and Mobile Home Dealers (SIC Major Group 52)

This major group includes retail establishments primarily engaged in selling lumber and other building materials; paint, glass, and wallpaper; hardware; nursery stock; lawn and garden supplies; and mobile homes.

This major group includes retail stores which sell a number of lines of merchandise, such as dry goods, apparel and accessories, furniture and homefurnishings, small wares, hardware, and food. Establishments primarily engaged in selling used general merchandise are classified in Industry Group 593, those selling general merchandise by mail, vending machine, or direct selling are classified in Industry Group 596.

This major group includes retail stores primarily engaged in selling food for home preparation and consumption. Establishments primarily engaged in selling prepared foods and drinks for consumption on the premises are classified in Major Group 58, and stores primarily engaged in selling packaged beers and liquors are classified in Industry 5921.

Grocery stores (SIC 541). Establishments primarily selling a wide variety of canned or frozen foods such as vegetables, fruits, and soups; packaged or bulk dry groceries, such as tea, coffee, cocoa, dried fruits, spices, sugar, flour, and crackers; and other processed foods and nonedible grocery items.
